in ezdrummer 3, weve focused on making ezdrummer less of a software program and more of an interface. drag and drop your tracks, be them saved from your hard drive or from the internet, into the interface window and start arranging them. working with a single interface window gives you a wide range of set up options and the ability to see your song structure at a glance. you can even rearrange the timeline or undo your last action. sync tracks and edit with an easy drag and drop interface lets you synchronize hundreds of tracks simply by dragging them from the browser into the interface window. the interface has been completely redesigned. in ezdrummer 3, your single song window simply opens a horizontal page containing all your tracks and your tracks are divided up into a central column containing all the tracks for one instrument (snare, bass, snare, tom, snare, etc.) along with other auxiliary views containing your drum keys, virtual microphones, beat grid, eq settings, effect settings and a playback window containing your project. as always, the interface is expandable and multiple interface windows can be open side by side, allowing you to work on multiple projects at once. work smarter, not harder. when composing a song in ezdrummer 3, you work much like a musician composing a song in a standard music notation program. the set up dialogue lets you easily set up your project and apply a song structure to arrange the track or simply record a drum track. as soon as you are done working on that, you can simply go back to a bass part or anything else you might be working on and easily arrange and synchronize the drum track. 5ec8ef588b
